

Rahul Garg is the Founder and CEO of Moglix. He started Moglix in 2015, and today it stands as one of Asia's largest and fastest growing companies, specializing in the phygital transformation of procurement and supply chain processes for the manufacturing sector.

Before establishing Moglix, Rahul worked for five years in a leadership position at Google Asia. Rahul's educational foundation comprises a BTech degree from IIT Kanpur and an MBA from the Indian School of Business (ISB), Hyderabad. He holds 16 US patents in the domains of wireless technology, digital networks, and analytics. As a lifelong learning quest, he is pursuing Owner/President Management program at Harvard Business School.